STUDENT LIFE

Cramming, classes, TGIF, pool in the Wolf's Den or coffee in the cafe—it is the students who make Loyola live and move on.

Another Year Is Recorded

Yearbooks being the endless conglomeration of the year's past experience—good, bad, and/or indifferent—it is only fitting that tradition should be upheld. Therefore it is hereby recorded that during the last year Gerald's remained the place to go, as well as to be seen; the jerk and Batusi the thing to do; Bob Dylan the man to quote; and The Beatles the group to sing along with.

Discussion in halls and around cafe tables centered on who would be drafted, when, where and why; male and female hair styles changes so only the hairdresser could know for sure; would Jim Garrison really close Bourbon St.; and could the alligator pond possibly give way to a site for a new girl's dorm.

Coeds continued to gyrate in accompaniment to "California Dreamin' " and were later attended by "A Well Respected Man"; everything was "Go-Go", including dresses, places, titles and the men's dorm; other things went go-go-go with Hurricane Betsy, such as electricity, air-conditioning and the steeple of Holy Name Church.

It was also the year of additions and replacements. Fr. Smith was replaced as president by Fr. Jolly; Fr. Junkin was replaced as dean of students by Fr. Partridge; and Fr. Doyle moved on after 15 years.

It was the year Loyola obtained its first mascot in three decades. A Canadian wolf pup, he was dubbed with the title of "Fang" by the students, and held sway at basketball halftimes.

In the field of entertainment, engrossed viewers flocked to the TV room in Danna Center, known as the Batlounge, to stare spellbound at the adventures of millionaire playboy Bruce Wayne and his young ward Dick Grayson; and the Wolfettes improved in both timing and showmanship.

James Bond finally met Thunderball; Mary Poppins died; and Charlton Heston painted the Sistine Chapel while Rex Harrison tried to break his hands.

It was not a leap year, but no one seemed to mind. To posterity, and anyone else who cares to remember it, this was 1965-66.

Captain Rod

Sorrow touched Loyola in late November with the words: "Rod, Ronald F.; Capt., U.S. Army; killed in action; Duc Po, Viet Nam."

After serving as an R.O.T.C. instructor for two years, he volunteered for combat, and had reached his destination by September. As a civil administrator, he was touched by the war-torn refugees, especially the children. His letters asking simply for soap began a drive spreading throughout the South. He died defending his people and the things in which he believed. He served his country and Loyola well.

Student Council

Tom Sartory has served as one of the most dynamic Student Council presidents in history

This year's Student Council proved itself as one of the most active and progressive in history.

Under the leadership of president Tom Sartory the 1965-66 Student Council accomplished more than any other in recent years.

On almost any Tuesday evening, around the dinner hour, one can see a small but steady stream of students entering Danna Center on their way to a second-floor meeting room. Their destination is a weekly meeting of Loyola's Student Council, the most important student governing body on campus. They come from all colleges and represent the voice of the students whom they represent.

They come from all colleges and stand for the voice of the students whom they represent.

Their work ranges from regulating campus organization elections and charters to collecting soap for the war-torn refugees of a Vietnamese village. They arrange lectures by such men as Arthur Schlesinger to broaden student ideas. In short, they are the works which make campus life tick.

As the main student-based governing body on campus, the Student Council is charged with maintaining a smooth-running, rewarding university life for all

Kappa Beta Gamma

The Sisters of Kappa Beta Gamma began their fifth year on the Loyola Campus, capturing a bevy of trophies and displaying unbounded spirit and enthusiasm throughout the two semesters.

This year their Homecoming display demonstrated to onlookers through animation how Loyola planned to "Sink the Ship of State." Built in conjunction with Upsilon Beta Lambda Fraternity, the colorful display was located in front of Cummings Hall on St. Charles Avenue.

Ever active, the KBG girls were busy socially also. With two formals and their monthly parties, including their spring House Party on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, the sisters nevertheless found time for their alumnae and actives' card parties.

An evidence of their ingenuity was their Kappa Kitchen during Mardi Gras which offered concessions to the city's revellers.

In sports, the girls' exceptional spirit and ability garnered them no less than four first-place awards, for softball, basketball, volleyball, and ping-pong.

The sorority's color are blue and gold; their flower is the Forget-Me-Not.

Phi Phi Phi celebrated its eighth year on the St. Charles Avenue campus with the induction of twenty-two new members into their ranks.

Rush, interrupted by Hurricane Betsy, saw the sisterhood participate in the Pan-Hellenic Council sponsored Clothes Drive for the needy; later they collected 250 pounds of soap for the Viet Nam Drive.

Pledge season saw car washes, Help Day, and volunteer work at the Crippled Children's Hospital. But all was not work for the girls of the green and white.

Come Blue Key and the sisters charmed the audience with their interpretation of "I Am An American!"

Socially Tri Phi gathered many times for theme parties, such as their Cave-Man party, Winter and Spring Formals, their annual Mission Bingo Party, and the St. Patrick's Day Songfest and Party. In February the sorority gave the "Gay 90's Soiree" at Your Father's Mustache in the world famous French Quarter.

Houseparties in April were a welcome relief from the doldrums of New Orleans as they journeyed to Mississippi for a weekend of fun and sun.

Active in University life they won the girl's Softball Championship in 1965. For Homecoming they were teamed with ADG displaying their "What's New Pussycat?" on Freret Street.

Gamma Eta Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma national social sorority, now in its fifth year on campus, engaged in a wealth of charitable, academic, and social activities during the past year.

Charitable activities this year included the sending of a delegation to participate in the sorority's national charity project at North Carolina State Hospital in Chapel Hill, work at the Crippled Children's Hospital in New Orleans, the Ceylon Mission Drive, cake sales and baby-sitting in disaster shelters after Hurricane Betsy.

Academically, Tri Sigma excelled by winning the University Scholastic Award for sororities for the second straight year with a three point over-all average.

The sisters participated in Talent Nite with a variety act entitled "Hernando's Hide-A-Way" and teamed up with SAK in their homecoming display of "Cage the Tigers."

Socially, the Tri Sigma's rounded out the year with winter and spring formals, a number of parties and the now famous annual Backwards Dance at which a trophy is given to the couple with the best costume.

This year Sigma Sigma Sigma took in twenty-two pledges. They enjoyed ten years as a local sorority before becoming Tri Sigma, making it the oldest sorority on campus. Tri Sigma's colors are royal purple and white and the flower is the Purple Violet.

Alpha Beta of

Theta Phi Alpha

JUDY McBRIDE
President

Thirty new members were selected to enter the ranks of Theta Phi Alpha this year, keeping its position as Loyola's largest sorority.

The sisters began the year with their traditional campus-wide September Send-Off, then proceeded to capture many honors, including second place in Talent Nite Variety competition, and first place in swimming. Combined with Beggars' Fraternity, the girls also were awarded first place for their Homecoming decorations, the second in a row for the sisterhood. In addition, they won the United Fund Mystery Man contest, also for the second consecutive year.

Alert to the needs of the community, the sisters launched their "Project Morale-Booster" following Hurricane Betsy, collecting toys and useful items for the storm victims, and they participated in the Viet Nam soap drive.

Even socially, Theta Phi's refuse to be outdone. Their annual parties include the April House Parties, their Seafood Party, and two formals.

And as if this were not enough, the Alpha Beta Chapter ranks first scholastically among the sorority's seventeen chapters.

Epsilon of Alpha Delta Gamma

Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Delta Gamma national Catholic social fraternity entered its thirty-third year at Loyola and initiated nineteen men into its ranks.

ADG scored scholastically by taking the University Academic Award for the fraternity with the highest over-all quality point average at the spring convocation.

ADG also proved to be a power in intramural athletics by taking the football championship, winning the intramural track meet and tieing for the boxing championship last year. The fraternity also figured prominently in basketball this year.

Charitable activities for the fraternity included a soap drive for Viet Nam and its Lenten Charity Project.

Socially ADG held its winter formal at the Hilton Inn, a Mardi Gras Party and again gave its "Famous" Purple Passion Party.

For Homecoming ADG teamed with Tri Phi. They displayed their "What's New Pussycat" on Freret St.

The Men of Beggars, the oldest fraternity at Loyola, inducted eighteen new members during this, their 42nd year on campus.

The year was also highlighted by a first place award for the fraternity Homecoming decoration. Teamed with Theta Phi Alpha, the Beggars built a display entitled "Wolfgang Tavern" which depicted the Loyola wolf in a German tavern scene. The award-winning decoration was erected on the Tulane side of the Fieldhouse on Freret Street.

The fraternity also entered Talent Night this year, presenting an original skit entitled "The Unwritten James Bond" which spoofed the current spy craze.

In addition the Men of Beggars held their annual retreat at Pass Christian, and the Smokehouse Stag Party, plus their Winter Formal, held this year at the Monteleone, and the Mardi Gras Party with Deacon John and the Ivories.

The Fraternity also participated in the soap drive for the needy of Viet Nam.

Athletically the Beggars were active in intramurals during the year.

Their colors are blue and white; their flower is a White Carnation.

The Brothers of Sigma Alpha Kappa this year welcomed 25 men into their ranks as the fraternity began its 42nd year on the Loyola campus. One of the first two social fraternities to be founded (Dec. 10, 1923), the men of SAK continued their tradition of dedication to brotherhood and their alma mater.

A stream of social functions ran throughout the year, among them the Rush Formal and Spring Formal held in the Grand Salon of the Royal Orleans Hotel. Other parties and get-togethers thrown were the annual Luau and Roman Party, a Gambling Nite, a hayride and a number of picnics and stags. One of the highlights of the year was a celebration held during Mardi Gras holidays at a warehouse in the French Quarter.

This year SAK teamed with Sigma Sigma Sigma Social Sorority in building its contribution to the homecoming decorations. Their motif, "Tame the Tiger", depicted an LSU Tiger cowering under the whip wielded by the Loyola Wolf.

SAK was active in all facets of athletics on campus.

ARDLEY R. HANEMANN, JR.
President

Upsilon Beta Lambda, in its 41st year, accepted 28 members, bringing the active membership to 82, the largest social fraternity at Loyola.

Founded January 15, 1925, Upsilon Beta Lambda continued its policy of helping the University and the community: UBL's worked around the clock in disaster shelters during the aftermath of Hurricane Betsy, assisted in the Viet Nam soap drive, and in April gave their annual Orphan's Picnic.

In Blue Key Talent Nite, UBL set the pace with its original musical comedy, capturing first place for the fourth consecutive year, the only organization to do so in the history of Talent Nite. UBL also, has the distinction of winning the school spirit award every year since the honor was inaugurated. Active in all sports, UBL won first place in boxing in the spring, first in swimming among the fraternities, third in football and first place in the university in intramural bowling.

The Brothers of Upsilon Beta Lambda can be found as leaders on the Student Council, the Student Union, and the R.O.T.C. cadet cadre. They are found as King of the Powder Puff Bowl, editing the Wolf, and playing in the Dixieland Band. Refusing to be outdone even in the social aspect, the Brothers can also be found raising hell at their weekly parties, their picnics, their annual Blue and Gold formal, and at their university-wide Shipwreck Dance with the Greek Fountains.

Cooperation for the benefit of the whole is the driving force behind the Pan-Hellenic Council. The sororities elect representatives who gather each Wednesday afternoon to discuss points of mutual interest from planning Rush Season to setting up a committee to coordinate the collection of soap for Captain Rod's orphanage in Viet Nam. The Council also serves as a grievance committee between the different sororities and the school administration.

Treasurer ..... ARDLEY HANEMANN, UBL

When there is the capacity and the ability for different groups to meet on common grounds in order to solve any problem that may have arisen concerning their mutual welfare, the groups have a more useful and integrated existence. This is the foundation upon which the Inter-Fraternity Council at Loyola is built.

The IFC also uses its forces to keep attune to the needs of the University and the means that its members see to help Loyola reach its goal.

The IFC also promotes the academic as well as the social side of fraternities by presenting to the fraternity with the highest overall average for two semesters, a trophy representative of their achievement.

The presidents and vice-presidents of each fraternity, along with their moderators, sit on the IFC with Fr. Partridge, Dean of Students, as the IFC's moderator.

Dona MacDonald

An abundance of adjectives could be used to describe Dona MacDonald and among these one is certain to find loyal, energetic, cheerful, talented, popular, intelligent, and down-to-earth. But no one could say enough about this senior education major who has given Loyola four years of constant service.

Dona, a native of Missoula, Montana was Freshman Sweetheart 1963, Student Council Recording Secretary 1963-64, President of Lambda Sigma Lambda 1964-65, Vice-President of Theta Phi Alpha 1964-65, a Women's Panhellenic Representative, a Student Recruiter, President of Cardinal Key 1965-66, Chairman of the Interorganizational Council for Women and the Housemother of Ignatius Hall. And in recognition of all her activity she was named to Who's Who in her junior year. Dona is indeed most worthy of these and the honor bestowed upon her as Miss Wolf, 1966.

Campus Queen

Margaret Cloutier

To decide whether Loyola discovered 1965-66 Campus Queen Margaret Cloutier and brought her here to add beauty and charm to the campus or if she herself chose to enroll at Loyola, would be a difficult question to answer. For "Cloochie" as she is known to all, has been chosen by Loyolans so many times in her four years in New Orleans that the real answer could escape anyone.

This pert 5' 2" brown-eyed blonde accounting major from Natchitoches, La., has captured the hearts and recognition of every student from the first day she arrived. She has reigned on every court of love and beauty ever since. She was a maid in the Sweetheart Court her Freshman year, a maid on the Campus Court the following two years and now, as though there could have been any doubt in the minds of Loyolans she reigns as Campus Queen.

But beauty and a magnetic personality are only two of her qualities for she has displayed many more as she became a member of Theta Phi Alpha, LSL, Phi Chi Theta, and Beta Alpha Psi. As a student in the School of Business Administration, Cloochie has not only been popular, active and successful but has been an inspiration for all she has come in contact.

Susan Breaud

All the warmth of Southern Hospitality can be found in the person of Sophomore Campus Maid Sue Breaud. But this is just one of the many qualities and talents that have made this 5' 4" brown-eyed brunette one of the most popular and active coeds in Arts and Sciences.

Elementary Education Major ... 3.2 cumulative average ... LSL ... Elementary Education Club ... Theta Phi Alpha ... Freshman Sweetheart Court 1965 ... Company B Sponsor ... 1965 Wolfettes ... Wassailing Singers ...

Sue, who hails from the Crescent City, is one of four children, a graduate of Mount Carmel Academy, and plans to teach second or third grade after she leaves Loyola.

Sally Droppelman

Radiant, blonde-haired, blue-eyed Campus Maid Sally Droppelman from Louisville, Kentucky chose Loyola because she wanted to attend a Jesuit college. She loved New Orleans and wanted to see what being away at college was like. School in the Crescent City certainly agrees with Sally. Sweetheart of Alpha Delta Gamma ... a Theta Phi Alpha ... Administrative Practices Major ... 2.7 cumulative average ... Women's Residence Council ... National Collegiate Association of Secretaries ... Student Union Hospitality Committee ... Wolfettes ... Dorm prefect. When Sally is not attending class in B.A., she enjoys water skiing and bridge.

Jane Maher

The constant smile of Campus Maid Janie Maher has once again captured the hearts of Loyola. This perky brown-eyed New Orleanian stands only 5' 2" tall but is a giant in the School of Business Administration.

Administrative Practices Major ... 2.9 cumulative average ... Student Council Corr. Sec. ... LSL Parliamentarian ... Theta Phi Alpha ... Spiritus ... National Collegiate Association ... Freshman Sweetheart 1965 ... Wolfette Captain ... Swimming Instructor.

Janie, one of five children, is a fine example for any Loyola coed. This Sophomore who came to Loyola because "my parents made me" shows just what real school spirit can do.

Kathie Pearse

Sweet as sugar cane is returning Campus Maid Kathy Pearse, a blue-eyed blonde enrolled in Loyola's College of Business Administration. Kathy, a very active marketing senior, has done much for Loyola through her various accomplishments.

Phi Phi Phi . . . Lambda Sigma Lambda . . . Student Union Hospitality Committee . . . Intramural sports . . . R.O.T.C. Company Sponsor . . . 3.0 cumulative average . . . Dean's list . . .

Versatile and intelligent, Kathy plans to go into marketing research when she graduates. With all the qualities and talents wrapped up in this one lovely girl, success will surely follow in her future.

Dianne Ragan

This year's Campus Maid from Loyola's Evening Division is lovely Dianne Ragan. Dianne is a 5' 5" Sophomore executive secretarial practices major from New Orleans, who hopes to be a "very sufficient and successful" executive secretary upon graduating from Loyola.

Student Council . . . Evening Division Student Committee . . . receptionist for the Oil Company . . . 3.7 cumulative average . . . Dean's List . . . brown hair . . . green eyes . . . She is the oldest of two children and spends her spare time horseback riding, bowling, dancing and sewing. She is truly an asset to the Evening Division and Loyola.

Mary Ann Sterck

Florida is the Sunshine State and Miami junior Mary Ann Sterck has brought so much sunshine to Loyola that the students voted her Campus Court Maid for the second straight year.

Secondary Education Major . . . Lambda Sigma Lambda . . . Student Union Hospitality Committee . . . Wolfettes . . . Theta Phi Alpha . . . Student Night Chairman . . . R.O.T.C. Sponsor for the Pershing Rifles . . .

Mary Ann, who wants to teach in Florida when she graduates, spends her summers in Connecticut. She is very lovely 5' 4" blonde with brown eyes, has a winning personality and a true sense of real school spirit.

Janice Atkinson

Freshman Sweetheart

Endowed with a beauty that is all her own and a charm that is most definitely Southern, Janice Atkinson, 5' 3" and raven haired, was crowned 1966 Freshman Sweetheart at the annual Sweetheart Cotillion.

The oldest of four children, Janice comes to Loyola from Biloxi, Mississippi where she is also quite a celebrity holding the titles of Miss Biloxi High School and Camelia Queen for 1965. This comely sweetheart is a voice major in Loyola's College of Music and dreams of one day singing with the Metropolitan Opera.

But her activities do not revolve completely around her music as she works part time for the University Chaplain and maintains a 3.1 average.

Other members of the Sweetheart Court included Helen Baffes, Anne Higgins, Karen Richard, and Charlotte Simms.

Tek Bassham

Little Colonel

1966

A winning smile and an abundance of charm and poise are only a few of the qualities that enhance the beauty of this year's Battalion sponsor Tekla Bassham, a senior in elementary education.

Tek, who hails from Jeffersonville, Indiana, is a 5' 5" brown-eyed blonde who has numbered among Loyola's campus favorites since she arrived as a freshman. She reigned as the 1964-65 Campus Queen as what seemed to most Loyolans a natural step from her appearances on the Freshman Sweetheart Court and the campus court in previous years.

She has also been a company sponsor and on the Student Council in addition to Cardinal Key and serving as vice-president of Theta Phi Alpha social sorority, and a member of LSL and the El Ed Club.

As an avid sports fan and a homemaker at heart, Tek's radiant enthusiasm will not soon be forgotten by any of those who have been acquainted with her.

BILL GARDINER

Athletic director and head basketball coach Bill Gardiner completed his eleventh year at Loyola with a 9-17 season record. Before coming to Loyola, the 44-year-old graduate of Georgetown University served as head coach of Spring Hill College for 13 seasons.

Gardiner's ambition of obtaining national recognition for the Wolfpack looked better this year when the Loyola cagers edged Louisiana State, 72-61, at the Tiger Coliseum and Pepperdine, 85-70, in the fieldhouse for the first two games of the season. Hopes dimmed, however, when Texas Christian started off an eight game losing streak.

Gardiner is married and the father of four children. The oldest, Jim, is a dental student at Loyola.

BASEBALL COACH RAGS SCHEUERMANN

Baseball Coach Rags Scheuermann

Louis "Rags" Scheuermann in his ninth year as baseball coach at Loyola began practice this year with the knowledge that this would be one of the roughest schedules a Loyola team had ever played. However a rough schedule has never bothered Coach Scheuermann before and this year is no different.

Loyola has not had a losing season since before World War II. In his nine previous seasons Coach "Rags" counts over a hundred victories against less than fifty losses. In compiling such a record his teams have attracted pro scouts and Coach Scheuermann has sent several players to the pros in the last few years.

Al Weddle

Freshman Coach

Freshman coach Al Weddle who replaced Lake Kelly as freshman mentor this year is not a new face at Loyola. He graduated from here in 1964. A native New Orleanian, Weddle played his high school ball at Jesuit where he was named to the all-state second team in his senior year.

After leaving Loyola he coached the junior varsity at Jesuit and compiled a commendable record. This year Weddle's frosh team came through with an outstanding 13-1.

Ron Greene

Varsity Assistant

Ron Greene, new varsity assistant coach was a welcome help for coach Gardiner. Greene graduated from Murray State Kentucky where he was a varsity starter for three years. He was named to the All-Ohio Valley Conference team, was captain of Murray's team and most valuable player at Murray in his senior year.

He spent the last two years in the service where he was player-coach of his Army base team which won the Second Army championship in 1964 and was runner-up in 1965.

1965-66 Basketball Squad

Inexperience and height were the key figures in molding Loyola's 1965-66 basketball fortunes.

Senior Don Kalinowski—the lone senior on the squad—was the big gun most of the season and formed a strong nucleus with five other returning lettermen.

The team was without an experienced guard when the season opened and two converted forwards, Roger Radecki and John Erb, saw a great deal of action at that spot. Erb was a guiding light with his backcourt play.

Several of the seven sophomores on the team showed a great deal of promise and should prove to be the nucleus for the '66-'67 pack.

Pack Drops LSU in Season Opener

The 1965-66 basketball season started out with a surprise victory over LSU in an exciting opening contest at the Tiger Coliseum: the first such win by the Wolfpack since 1959. The squad started clicking from the very beginning and it looked like Loyola's quintet was headed for a good season against some of the toughest competition in the country.

In a word, Gardiner's cagers beat LSU with DEFENSE; but the bright beginning was set back roughly by continuous injuries to key players. Captain Don Kalinowski received a broken ankle early in the year and had to sit out several games. Big Lee Freeman suffered the same injury while hustling John Erb sustained repeated minor knocks. On the road the Pack was plagued by a losing streak they couldn't break.

Pack Tops Waves, 72-61

The 1965-66 Wolfpack opened the season in an unusual manner—they beat LSU at Tigertown, 72-61. The Pack made it two in a row by downing Pepperdine of LA, 85-70, at home. Then eight losses came, due mainly to injuries: TCU, 77-66; LSU (the only home game of the string), 88-84; Air Force, 68-55; Tulsa, 70-44; Providence, 88-76; Dayton, 88-57; Texas Western, 92-56; Arkansas, 67-57. The slump ended with a four point victory over arch-rival Spring Hill, 58-54 in Mobile. OCU tallied over the century mark twice against Loyola: the first time in the fieldhouse when they scored a 105-88 victory. The Pack fell to Fla. St., 73-53 on the road and ended the first half with an 86-78 upset over Memphis St. in the first ROTC sponsored game.

The second half started with a last-second shot that would have taken the heart out of Xavier, but the Ohioans won, 76-74. Heart-stoppers became common to the Pack. The Wolfpack made it two in a row over Spring Hill, 63-58 and Tampa, 90-67. Roger Radecki won the Fla. St. game, 73-72, with a free throw. Another heart-breaker came on the road as the Pack lost to Memphis St., 71-69, the Wolves couldn't get a shot off at the gun. Arkansas State won the second game of that road trip, 72-60 against Loyola. Oklahoma City's Chieftans broke their second century mark, this time it was 115-82. The University of Oklahoma made it a clean sweep for the Sooner State by stopping the Pack, 69-44. A see-saw followed in the last games of the season: victory over Miami, 89-76, a loss to Providence, 70-43, a win over Fordham's Rams, 51-50 and another defeat for Houston.

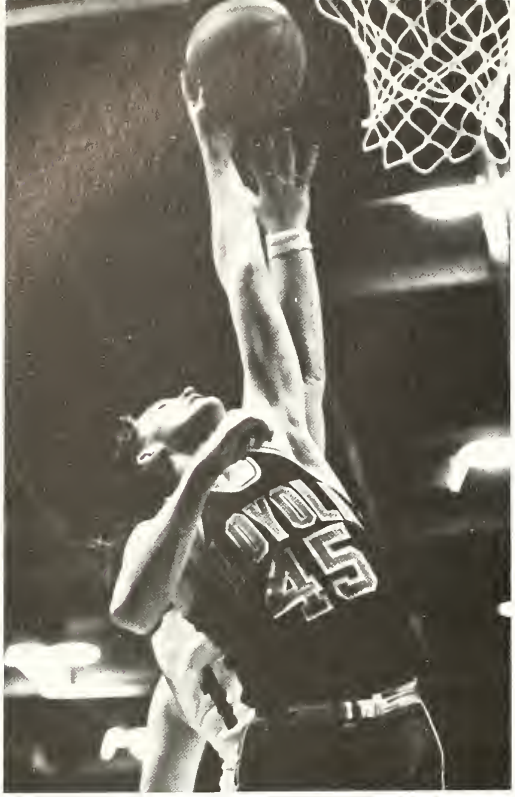
Kalinowski Makes History

Don Kalinowski shot his way into the record books and the hearts of Loyola fans by scoring 41 points against Tampa University. He broke the previous record of 40 set by Eddie Galvin on Feb. 15, 1955.

Don started his night by pumping in four consecutive long range buckets. The opposition moved into a man-to-man defense but he continued to burn up the nets with a variety of shots which gave him a 20-point tally at half-time.

The big moment came with 2:06 remaining and was truly unforgettable. Don took a pass underneath from John Erb and moved in for his jump shot but found himself stymied by a Tampa player. Don faked his man, then wheeled inside for a reverse lay-up. The ball spun crazily on the rim for what seemed an eternity and then dropped through the net, setting off a wild three-minute ovation for the senior captain from Camden, N.J.

Don Kalinowski goes up past a State defender for a crowd pleasing lay-up



Glenn Goodier goes all out to pull this one down for the Wolfpups

1965-66 Wolfpups

For the first time in several years, Loyola finally has some local talent from the New Orleans area playing on its Wolfpup squad with the definite possibility of making their mark on the varsity squads of the future. The brightest stars for the Pups were Ronnie Britsch, a fiery guard who is both the playmaker and the shooter, and Charlie Powell, a guard with a touch of velvet and tremendous body-control. These two guards led the Wolfpups to a 14-1 season with the assistance of high-scoring Glenn Goodier and the hustling of Tom Sutherland.

The Wolfpups were led this year by an able young coach, Al Weddle, who welded them into a cohesive unit which gives Loyola fans visions of grandeur for years to come.

Baseball 1965-66

Facing a tough schedule, the Wolfpack battled tooth and nail again this year to keep the image of Loyola's varsity baseball team a winning one. An institution at Loyola, this team has not experienced a losing season since "D-Day" of World War II.

The man who has successfully guided Loyola's baseball diamonds for nine years and has been largely responsible for the Wolfpack's success, is Louis "Rags" Scheuermann. Coach Scheuermann seems to have the Midas touch in transforming eager Freshmen into polished stars, sometimes aiding in leading them on the way to capturing professional contracts.

It is both the talent of this exceptional coach and the potential of a fine group of players that has given the Loyola Wolfpack an undying reputation in intercollegiate baseball.

LU Undefeated in Grid Action

Dartmouth and Loyola remained the only two major colleges or universities in the United States to have an undefeated gridiron record this year. The Loyola Football Club, with Don Delatte serving as president and Ken Sanders as coach, overpowered LSU (no), 21-0, in City Park Stadium on a rainy, cold and windy Sunday afternoon for their only game of the season. The revival of football as an intercollegiate sport, the first appearance of the sport on campus in 37 years, was initiated and directed by the students with the assistance of baseball coach and intramural director "Rags" Scheuermann.

Using personal finances and equipment borrowed from local high schools, the club overcame many difficulties, but still showed that athletics need not be a losing proposition at Loyola, financially or aesthetically.

Drenched spectators look on as Loyola and LSUNO collide at City Park. This year marked the first time in three decades that Loyola has had a football team

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

A program of beneficial physical activity, composed of eight sports, formed the basis for this year's men's intramurals.

Men's Intramural Board

DENNIS LEBLANC UBL
President

Under the auspices of the Student Council, the Men's Intramural Board was started this year to assist Coach "Rags" Scheuermann in handling all the sports in which Loyola men participate. The board was first called together during the summer of '65 to begin investigation into all of the problems which have plagued intramurals for a long time due to inadequate facilities on the campus proper. They were able to establish a program beneficial to all sports. They were helped by a gift from the Student Council to finance a pay raise for permanent referees in football, the purchasing of new equipment for the men and the movement to obtain new lights for Audubon Park in time for baseball season.

The board is made up of permanent members drawn from the four Fraternities, the schools and ROTC with the president of the Student Council serving as ex-officio.

ADG Wins 'Mural Grid Crown

ADG took the intramural football crown for the fifth straight year with a 6-0 win over a rugged Law school team. The game's only score came on a pass from Howard Maestri to Vicky Hughes who ran it into the end zone. The pass climaxed a four play drive highlighted by a long run by Maestri. Kirsch-Rooney field was sloppy with mud and there was a strong wind to add to both teams' troubles.

In the second quarter, Maestri hit Elliott Prieur with a short pass. Maestri faded back and, eluding the defenders, cut around end for a 25-yard gain and the first down. Two plays later Vicky broke loose from the law defense and the first and only TD was registered.

The rest of the game was well played, considering the field condition, with both sides threatening at various times.

The lawyers were using a special play which gained yardage: Paul Hardy tossing to Manuel Fernandez who, in turn, pitched back to Hardy or Krummel. It went well, but although the threat was there, it didn't produce a score and ADG came home with the first place trophy.

'Mural Basketball

The intramural basketball program has grown bigger than ever with five teams in the fraternity league and eleven in the school league. The most colorful team, 'Sam the Sahm and the Pharohs's, used bright costumes, swords and umbrellas for laughs. Perennial favorite ADG, kept this post while a hustling SAK, squad, a bolstered Beggar team and this year's UBL dark horse all figured to test the Alpha Delt's supremacy in 'mural basketball.

Bowling

Another successful season for Loyola's intramural bowling program was capped off by UBL taking first place in a tough league which was not decided until the final week of the season when UBL defeated SAK in the positioning round.

The season started with a field of eight to decide the championship. The favorites at this time were The Bombers, who were an independent entry including three former members of Loyola's traveling intercollegiate team, and UBL #1, who had a fine nucleus of returning players from last year's team. The season ran pretty well according to the script with UBL and The Bombers battling it down to the wire with a darkhorse entry closing on them fast. The season closed with UBL adding another bowling trophy to its collection.

COED INTRAMURALS

The opportunity for fun and relaxation through organized individual and team sports is provided for the women of Loyola by an active Intramural program.

Directed by Miss Aline Brousseau, the Coed Intramural Board of Loyola was led through another successful year of women's athletics.

Miss Tina Coady, junior in A&S and a member of Tri Sigma, served as chairman over the other ten members of the board.

Baseball started off the fall semester. Other sports included swimming, tennis, ping pong, and the big favorite—powderpuff football.

Second semester action opened with baseball and the year ended in spring with softball.

'Scents Win Pumpkin Bowl 14-0

TOUCHDOWN!! was the happy sound heard twice around N.O.R.D. stadium as the Sophomores and Juniors won their claim to fame in this year's powder-puff football. The Heavenly Scents rallied around Cheryl Ciolino, most valuable player for the second consecutive year, to rush and scrape their way to a victory that showed the Freshmen and Seniors just what a game of female football can offer. As the Hellcats can testify, the 14-0 score does not really indicate how rough the game can be.

Hellcat frosh Bonnie Bellevue steels herself to break through a double team

Closely guarded hustling Hellcat leaps high to pull in the pass

Basketball

Thrills and spills highlighted women's intramural basketball once again this year as squads entered by the four sororities, Alpha Delta Theta, the Dental Hygienists, and several freshman independent teams vied for the basketball trophy. It was hard to believe that among the screams of laughter and encouragement and the cries of disappointment an actual game could be played but here again the female athletes of Loyola never ceased to amaze all those who were on the scene. Good sportsmanship was always present even with the elbows, the knees and the fingernails poised and ready to strike. Fun and valuable exercise were had by all participants as this phase of intramurals contributed to a program designed to promote good health and friendship.

Grabbing the rebound is a lot easier when the opponents give you room

Coed Basketball

Hustling, scrapping and elbows are as much a part of girls' basketball as the men's game

"L" Book

Commonly known as the "L" book, the Student Handbook contains within its covers the history, ideals, traditions, organizations, and student regulations of the university and the Student Council constitution. The publication of the handbook is supervised by a committee of the Student Council and is published at the beginning of each year.

Loyola Student Union Governing Board

To provide for the cultural, recreational and social needs of the students—this is the aim of the Loyola Student Union. A member of the Association of College Unions, the Loyola Union functions on our campus through seven committees. Highlights of the year included the opening of the Wolf's Den and the appearance of Gen. Maxwell Taylor. This year has seen the setting of many precedents vital to the recognition and fulfillment of the diverse needs of Loyola Students.

Under the dynamic leadership of Dave Gunther, Spiritus has once again become a vital organization for the promotion of school spirit. Working with Coach "Rags" Scheuermann, Spiritus secured "Fang" who made his appearance at every sporting event Due to the initiation by Spiritus of "Help Week" for freshmen during Homecoming, the Field House became the site for spirit-packed banners. Successfully obtaining larger crowds for basketball games, Spiritus inspired enthusiasm through lively yells from the cheerleaders.

Toward a wiser world

To further the ambition of young men and women who may hold the world's future within their grasp has always been the high hope and purpose of Loyola University of the South, as it has been part of the Whitney's goal since 1883. We salute the contribution that Loyola has made in developing young men and women whose vision, courage and hard work are helping to build a wiser world.

Editor's — 30 —

During the past year I have often wondered about my sanity, but now that the WOLF for 1966 is finished I no longer doubt it—I know I was insane.

Our staff increased this year from a rousing 5 to a herd of 10 members. But these ten people have given more than their time to this book. They have put more than should be allowed into these 352 pages, so that each and every student at Loyola would be able to see as much in their University as they do—if this is accomplished, then we have succeeded. To these few who endured I would like to thank personally:

MIKE KABEL: Through it all he never lost one bit of confidence in me and gave me all the assistance I needed, when I needed it, whether it was convenient for him or not. I can honestly say, now, that he is the faculty member I most respect and admire.

RUSS CRESSON: Another year, not as chaotic as the first, but nevertheless he held calmness as his byword.

WILL PENEGUY: Talent such as his should not be wasted on a managing editor. He performed tasks not required or expected of him, and did so willingly. Thanks, Will.

EMILE LAFOURCADE: Perhaps no one put more time and effort into making this book a success than Emile. I owe this entire 352 page record to his patience with me, his long sleepless nights in the dark room, and his extra efforts when to say "NO" would have been easier. I hope that we will always remain close friends and work together on other ventures again soon . . . FANG, you abound in talent.

EDDIE MAZOUE: There are no words that could possibly express what I owe to Eddie not only on the WOLF but whenever we have worked together. There are few people I could trust as much, or with as much, as Eddie.

GUY LABATUT: Sports for the second year will be what was needed because of hard work and devotion. If you don't believe me look in some other school's yearbooks.

BILL MURPHY: Though supposedly finished when the copy was, he stepped in and saved the book the night before deadline with his art work. If it were not for Bill there would be not one division page in this book. Through it all you were great, Kike.

JOHN WIEMANN: A willingness to learn and take criticism are a mark of character. John does both well and the results will show.

JEFF SINCLAIR: Not one idea that I had would have reached paper without Jeff. If he continues to follow in the steps of his adopted 'Knight' he too will make his mark.

WILLIE GORDON: If Willie were the Willie I know—Larry would not exist. Thanks to you Willie for your sleepless nights the second year in a row.

BILL VOIGT: A new comer to the merry-go-round, he took it all in stride and did everyone who knew him proud.

MARY FISER: There is but one other girl that I know that I respect more than Mary. Her unselfishness and devotion has made her the girl I most admire at Loyola. Strictly as a volunteer she remained with us until the bitter end, giving more than some who were required to do so.

How can I thank such people as JO ANN DELL'OSSO, ANN CRUTCHER and GREG HEAUSLER for their help when it was so desperately needed. Out of a love for their school and, I like to think, a deep personal friendship they spent hours in the glass tube.

But an Editor of one year, much less two, cannot leave an experience like this without mixed feelings. The temptation to be cynical is great, but what you are leaving behind is even greater. Were it not for Loyola, the department of journalism and a little man with a 'ma-bug', no one knows where I'd be.

To be melancholy is nauseous so I shall close . . . .

THIS IS LOYOLA 1966:

ARDLEY R. HANEMANN, JR.
